

How You Can Help

As of September 2009, there is talk of a jobless recovery. This is a sustained period of jobless growth during our recovery. This could occur in spite of a recovered stock market and possibly positive GDP growth.

However, the U.S. as of September 2009 has done little in the area of structural economic changes that plague our recession to remedy such problems. Bailout is not a solution to the problems that have caused our recession. Many of the changes suggested in our book have certainly not been addressed. The key economic indicators as of September 2009 are 9.5% unemployment rate, $11.8 trillion national debt, $350 billion projected free trade deficit, and a high unquantified housing failure rate all still dismal problems.

We recommend each reader write their representatives to promote real changes. On the next 2 pages is a proposed letter. Please review it, copy it, and mail it to your government officials. (Mayor, Governor, State and Federal Representatives and President Obama.)

Dear

As an American citizen, I would like to see real economic change to the root cause problems that plague our Modern Recession. Bailouts have not addressed these.

These proposed economic changes I am recommending are provided in the book, The Truth to the Modern Recession or on the website www.SolutionsWithoutUSDebt.com. I agree with the author for the following suggestions:

1) Congress Should Declare a Seven Year of War on the National Debt that Includes:

- A Seven year commitment by Congress
- Draft professionals like lawyers, engineers, doctors, and nurses to provide free part time help for the sick and needy during this declared war
- Pay off the National Debt with
 - An equitable change in the tax structure – “A One Hundred Percent Equitable Progressive Income Tax Structure with a Salary Cap”
 - A higher estate tax policy on the wealthy
 - An asset tax on the wealthy
 - A life time wealth cap for the wealthy
 - A bill to close tax loopholes on the wealthy such as 15% long term capital gains tax allowed for hedge-fund profiteers

2) Stop the Continual Separation of Wealth and Consequential Money Hoarding by the Wealthy Through

- An annual income salary cap
- A lifetime estate cap

3) Improved Restrictions on Lobbyists Including Prohibiting Them to Write Any Legislation

- Require all campaign funds to be taken out of our income taxes

4) New Free Trade Policies to Create

- Require any company that imports goods or services into the U.S. that employs foreign workers should also be required to employ a certain minimum number of American citizens (especially when the unemployment rate is greater than 8%)
- U.S. policy on foreign governments for immediate penalties for currency manipulation
- U.S. policy on foreign world trade violations
- Junk tax on all imports by weight

5) Anti-hoarding Legislation in a Time of a Declared Recession for

- Wealthy individuals
 - Wealthy corporations
- 6) A New Proactive Reliability Macroeconomics Team
- To help build reliability into our economic policies
 - To help design test verification for all new economic policies
 - To investigate root causes of economic failed policies
- 7) A Website That Provides Full Root Cause Analysis and Corrective Actions for Any New Legislation or Economic Policy
- Preferably adopting the industry standard Failure Modes Effects Analysis method for our government
- 8) An Educational Campaign in the Middle East to Stop Nuclear Proliferation and Hate Against America
- 9) Perform Impartial Investigation of Hedge Fund Managers and Their Role in Influencing the Stock Market and the Modern Recession

Sincerely,
